Excerpt: . . . 11 we all knew what that was going to mean with regard to Afghani-stan, and some pretty strong statements were made about fol-lowing through after a military operation. What is our moral re-sponsibility to the Afghan people in all of this General McCaffrey, we will begin with you. General M C. Well, one is always tempted to go back to C AFFREY former Secretary Powells statement that if you break it, you own it. I must admit, I have never entirely bought that policy. I think there are points in time in foreign policy where we intervene for our own purpose and dont pick up the follow-on implied responsi-bility of turning the place into Switzerland. Nonetheless, here we are 600 miles from the sea, 32 million Af-ghans, this giant, wild country, much of it rooted in the 14th cen-tury. We have made promises, explicit and implied, and something that greatly bothers me in the current debate, the notion...
